Mountcastle National LI Champs

Rolling up seventeen victories as against only three losses Mountcastle's powerful team captured the Freeport National League Championship for the third successive year. Righthander John Binder led the effective pitching staff with ten wins. Binder, together with Steve Mendes and Richard Cusamano formed a trio of .400 hitters who powered the team all season. The team sponsored by prominent businessman Charles Mountcastle and managed by John Mendes has rolled up an impressive record of fifty-two victories and only eight losses in the three year span.

Shooting Range Will Be Relocated

Hempstead, Presiding Supervisor Ralph G. Caso, today, pledged his support for the relocation of the Nassau County shooting range at Mitchel Field. Caso noted that the range, operated by the County's Public Works Department, is destined to close down to make way for senior citizen housing which will be built in the area.

The range is located in that section of Mitchel Field bounded by Merrick Avenue, Front Street, Meadowbrook Parkway and Hempstead Turnpike.

In addition to senior citizens housing, Caso's plan for the quadrant includes a park and development of light industry.

"I believe we could incorporate the shooting range within the light industrial complex", Caso said.

He proposed that the facility be built into the basement of one of the industrial buildings.

"Obviously", Caso said, "the range is not compatible with the senior citizen housing, but it would fit in beautifully in the industrial complex for the benefit of some 70,000 county residents who use the range annually."

BOWLING HIGHLIGHTS

Bill Minnick

JACK KLAGES, a newcomer this season to the league and anchorman for the Eagles set a new individual high series for the 1970-71 season in the Parishoners Bowling League last week by rolling a 589, thereby wiping out his already established high of 577 pins set several weeks ago.

This action was climaxed in the last game of a series against the Orioles when Jack started off with a spare and then followed this with a five timer. In the 7th frame he had an 8 and a spare but 9 and a miss in the 8th. He picked up a strike in the 9th and followed with a spare and 6 in the 10th for an astounding 222 game. This game, combined with a 179 and a 188 gave him the new series mark.

While this was going on his teammates were doing more than enough for the team. JACK DE FRANZA was the leadoff man and finished with an over average total. JIM DOLLARD more than mopped up the floor with a 21 pin over average series and AL TARANTINO and HECKY RAINALDI rounded out a total that gave the Eagles a 7 to 4 win over the Orioles.

The league leading Owls increased their lead in the top spot by trouncing the Cardinals, 7 to 4. JACK KENNEDY and JACK REILLY led the team in this win and RON ROESCH topped the Redbirds.

Losing an 8 to 3 decision to the Hawks, the Lions widened their margin for the top spot and fell behind the Owls by 6 points. FRED LOMANGINO and DON NAVIN rolled series over 500 to help effect this win.

It wasn't so much the high scores of the Jaguars and the inability of the Wolves to put together a drive that gave the former an 11 to 0 win. WARREN GREENWOOD was the single member of the high average winners to roll a 500 series. The Jaguars moved up to 4th place.

BILL BRITTAIN was the main thrust that gave the Panthers an 8 to 3 win over the Rams. He rolled a 541 series that included a 211 game. TOM PALMER and BOB COSGRAVE were top men for the Rams.

Last year's champs, the Tigers encountered tough competition from the Bears but managed to be a 7 to 4 winner. ART HANNA led the winners and JOE SCHILLINGER and ED O'KEEFE rolled over 500 series for the Bears.

Bomb Blanket Developed

The "bomb blanket" developed by Detective Arthur Cunn of Hicksville, a member of the Nassau Police Public Safety Squad, winner of the top award for "advancement of Police Science and Technology" at the annual conference of the International Association of Chiefs of Police (October 6) was demonstrated Tuesday (October 13) at 11:00 AM in the isolated runway area at the east end of Mitchel Field.

The blanket, made of ballistic nylon, is capable of decreasing fragmentation and blast effects of the most common type bombs handled by police: hand grenades, and pipe bombs and other home-made explosives.

Cunn's device won out over numerous entries in the competition for outstanding contributions to the field of international police science and technology.

The new device is unlike the often-used wire mat devices, which add to the fragmentation effect of explosives. The new blanket, in the event of an explosion, blows into harmless threads.

Made of the new ballistic nylon, the blanket is sewn in a special pattern, 18 layers thick. Measuring four-by-four feet, it contains 16 vent holes to permit escape of gases. When a device explodes under the blanket, the blanket rises, assuming a parachute shape, and absorbs lateral fragmentation.

The new blanket device weighs less than 28 pounds and is covered with a fire-retardant to smother "molotov cocktails" and other fire-bombs.

Cunn, who has applied for a patent on the device, worked out the design after becoming concerned about the number of fire-bomb and explosive cases being handled by police throughout the country.

Nets on the Air

The broadcast of New York Nets' games will be carried by Station WGBB, Merrick, L. I. (1240 Wave Length), and by Station WGLI, Babylon, L.I. (1290), it was announced by Michael W. Manzer, Nets' vice president and director of promotions.

Newly appointed "Voice of the Nets" is Bob Lawrence, program director of WGBB.

A graduate of Gettysburg College in Pennsylvania, Lawrence began his radio career as an announcer for Station WHGB in Harrisburg, Pa., moved on to WKVA, Lewistown, Pa., then to WSBA in his home town of York, Pa., and, six years ago, to WGBB.

Sponsors of the Nets' broadcasts include First National City Bank, Dr. Pepper, Schaefer Brewery and Long Island Lighting Company (LILCO).

The Nets launch their 1970-71 ABA season in Pittsburgh against the Pittsburgh Condors Thursday night, Oct. 15. The next night, Friday night, Oct. 16, they play their first game at Island Garden, facing the Floridians.
