Man Guns Down Parents, Relatives

STAMFORD, N.Y. (AP) — A 24-year-old man suspected in a string of killings was arrested last month in a Hartford, Conn., courtroom the night of the killing, first deny­

He was said to have been a "violent, explosive and destructive person." The victim of the killing was an aunt, and the family were shot at for over an hour. The case is ongoing, with the suspect still in custody.

The man had been arrested previously for a similar assault in Connecticut, and the family members were killed in the same manner. The suspect had a history of violence, and the family members had been targeted for their involvement in a legal dispute.

There have been no arrests in the case, and the investigation is ongoing. The family is grieving, and the community is in shock.

Grey was believed armed with an assault xiflebut did not have a wea­

The suspect, Franz J. Grey, 24, of Pittsburgh, was arrested inside a

The suspect was charged with first-degree murder, and his case is set for trial in the near future. The family members were killed in their home, and the suspect was seen leaving the scene.

The suspect has a history of violence, and this is not the first time he has been arrested for a similar assault. The family is in mourning, and the community is in shock.

Grey was believed armed with an assault xiflebut did not have a wea­

The suspect was charged with first-degree murder, and his case is set for trial in the near future. The family members were killed in their home, and the suspect was seen leaving the scene.

The suspect has a history of violence, and this is not the first time he has been arrested for a similar assault. The family is in mourning, and the community is in shock.