CONVENTION AT WORK.

The Business Session Opened This Morning.

Next Chairman—Outlook For Harmony Not So Favorable as Had Been Expected—Latest Political Gossip.

SYRACUSE, Sept. 25.—The business session of the Democratic state convention opened shortly after 10 o'clock this morning with the outlook for harmony any thing but favorable.

Temporary Chairman Belmont rapped to convention to order and in a few well chosen remarks surrendered the gavel to Governor Flower.

Governor Flower presided as formerly. Next Chairman—Outlook For Harmony Not So Favorable as Had Been Expected—Latest Political Gossip.

REVEREND P. FLOWER.

Business existing within the ranks and a harmonious and united action on the business for which they had been called together.

Every platform presented the closing remarks of the speaker, but the harmony which has been so earnestly advocated was not so apparent in its appearance.

The chairman then announced the convention opened for business and the work of the day was commenced.

The report of the committee on credentials was read with great interest, and the decision on the Tammany Hall and the Democracy contest in favor of the latter was a landmark in the history of the party.

The report declares the Tammany Hall organization regular and entitled to seats in the coming year and entitled to recognition at all future conventions as regular delegates.

"Politics" That is the beson word today, and the letters are emblazoned in fire, and from a single knife or an arrow, the sparks of warfare protrude.

Very few of the practical politicians in this city at present will remember they have seen such a scintillating pot of discontent spread within the few hours that have elapsed between the hour of recess of the convention and the meetings of the various committees.

From an onward calm, born of the desire to obey the leaders, the situation has now become a storming torrent that makes the continuance of their control a matter of life and death.

Up to the hour of convening of the convention it was supposed that the plan of organization adopted by the Kings county people was the plan favored by the leadership, and that any man who was not in favor of it was a traitor to the Democracy.

The latter was inclined to be conservative and was strenuous in his denials of the fact that at a meeting of the Democratic committee he had declared in the presence of Senator Hill that any man who voted for the admission of the State Democracy was a traitor to the Democracy.

Senator Hill and those who favor the admission of these people are greatly wrong. The proper place for them is to take part. They were invited to do so, and they have no standing here, if an appeal to admitting them. If they are to be admitted, they must be admitted as Democrats.

IRISHMEN IN EARNST.

The New Movement Ushered In With Enthusiasm.

Opening Session at Oniogo.

Delegates Meet and Commence Their Organization—Speeches by Prominent Sons of the Emerald Isle—Telegrams From Irish Sympathizers Read.

CHICAGO, Sept. 25.—Stern earnestness marked the inauguration of the "new movement" for Ireland's independence. In a great gathering of men of Irish blood from every quarter of the United States the preliminary steps were taken for a fresh worldwide effort of the race in behalf of their mother land.

The convention was held in the magnificent Y. M. C. A. building on La Salle street, and started with the unique distinction of being the first assemblage of the kind held in America within 20 years not linked with the idea of main reliance on parliamentary agitation. A return to what they termed first principles seemed to be the idea prompting the delegates.

O'DONOVAN ROSSA.

forces of Irish revolution have been in check for a definite period, and it was the talk of those in attendance, now at least ended by limitation, with nothing for Ireland to show in return.

The opening of the steady stream of the possibilities, military and otherwise, of the famous Fenian maxim, "England's peril is Ireland's opportunity."

The chief definite purposes of the convention, as far as they could be gathered in advance of the proceedings, were the formation of a new national organization and the taking of action of some sort in behalf of Irish political prisoners still in British jails.

General M. W. Kerwin, ex-collector of the port of New York, came in with William Lyman of the same city, treasurer of the Irish National League. Shortly afterwards followed the steady stream of delegates. O'Neill Ryan of St. Louis, Maurice F. Wilhere of Philadelphia, Judge Savage of California, G. W. Sweeney of Cincinnati, James Killian of New York, and others equally well known.

The convention was called to order by John J. O'Connell of Chicago, chairman of the committee of arrangements. Rapidly for the order, Mr. O'Connell explained the causes leading up to the calling of the convention.

Mr. O'Connell then introduced as temporary chairman ex-Congressman John F. Finerty of Chicago. Mr. Finerty was given a rousing reception.

The opening of the convention was marked by intense enthusiasm.

The formal opening of proceedings was long delayed by the reading of telegrams from Irish sympathizers from all parts of the world who were invited to be present by the great care taken to prevent other than authorized delegates passing the doorkeepers.

Chairman Finerty's spirited address, calling for the opening of the convention in behalf of Ireland, was frequently interrupted by the cheering of the enthusiastic delegates.

No attempt was made to transact business at the opening session. The delegates were seated by states, all the states in the Union being represented, as also Canada and Australia.

One of the scenes was the welcome tendered O'Donovan Rossa, who had walked down the aisle and took a seat among the New Yorkers. Rossa appeared hale and hearty and seemed to feel the effects of the very highly.

There was one lady delegate, Miss Fanny O'Grady of Chicago. This, however, is not Miss O'Grady's first appearance in Irish conventions.

One of the most interesting events of the day was the presentation of the certificate of a delegate to the convention of the Fenian Brotherhood held Jan. 17, 1865, in Cincinnati, by Owen McSweeney. Mr. McSweeney was not elected to the present convention, but owing to the fact that he held in his hand, a certificate of eligibility to the second annual convention of the Fenian Brotherhood of America he was admitted.

SECOND FRUITLESS RACE.

Oyster Bay, L. I., Sept. 25.—The second race in the series of the best three out of five races of Spruce IV and Eshelwynn for the perpetual challenge cup offered by the Seawanhaka Corinthian Yacht club ended, as did Saturday's, by the race being called off.

On the seaward work of the first leg Eshelwynn outstripped the British yacht, but from that time until the wind died out, and the race was declared off on the line limit, the Spruce led the American, and had they finished inside the limit would doubtless have won.

FLAMES IN PHILADELPHIA.

Several Buildings Destroyed in the Business Portion of the City.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 25.—Fire was discovered in a story brick building at 118 Chestnut street, occupied by Charles J. Webb & Co., dealers in yards and woollens, and within half an hour no less than six adjacent buildings were in flames.

The district firemen got up almost entirely to large woolen and rag warehouses, and the Webb building was flanked by the 5-story chemical works of Charles Lonnig at 119 South Front street. The inflammable substance with which the chemical structures were stored spread the blaze with amazing rapidity and a general alarm was sent in.

The Webb building had been gutted on one corner almost before the firemen could put the first stream upon it and their energies were then directed to saving the adjoining buildings.

The flames first spread to 118 Chestnut street, occupied by H. B. Hoag & Co., colonial merchants, and burned through to Eagle street, a narrow thoroughfare in the rear.

The blaze then extended on the right to the buildings of Buckingham and Parliament streets, 120 Chestnut street, and James E. Mitchell, woollens, 125; and on the left, Richard A. Blythe, 114, and Keyser, Eisler & Co., 110. In these buildings, however, the flames were largely confined to the rear.

Big Railroad Strike Brewing.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 25.—The Post-Dispatch declares that there is a big strike brewing on the Washburn railway from Kansas to tie up the entire system from Toledo to Kansas City. The paper adds: "For several weeks past the company, through its officials, has been quietly ferreting out the members of the various brotherhoods in its employ and one by one they have been discharged. The reason given has usually been incompetency, drunkenness, bad record, or other causes equally as good, but the discharged employes had no recourse. It is claimed, however, that a majority of the men discharged were rejected because they are members of the different brotherhoods."

Women's Christian Temperance Union.

ROCHESTER, Sept. 25.—The 22nd annual convention of the Women's Christian Temperance union of New York state was opened here. The great audience room of Central church was completely filled with delegates. The work was confined for the most part to the reports of the committees. Mrs. Lary P. Burt presided. The convention lasts until Thursday. On Thursday evening the convention will be addressed by J. G. Woolley of Illinois.

Examination For Consuls.
