BLOOMINGDALE.

"Familiarity breeds contempt." We had become so thoroughly familiar and accustomed to cold, wet, rainy weather that our contempt had become intensified, and we have sat for the last three weeks with shrugged shoulders over a stove, wondering whether there ever had been or ever would be again the bright, clear, sunshiny days that we read about. But all this is over; old Sol has again made his appearance, and we are happy.

During the week we have had the pleasure of meeting some old Malone friends. Mr. Wm. B. Earle and Judge Adams, with their ladies, having made a tour of the Adirondacks, taking in upon their route Mr. Fuller's of the Meacham, Paul Smith's of the St. Regis, the Berkeley and Miller's at Saranac Lake, and St. Armand of the Hub, at the latter place remaining over night, on which occasion we spent a very pleasant evening in their company. With the exception of the Judge none of the party had ever visited the Adirondacks before, and all expressed their delight with their trip, the roads, the hotels, the beauty of our little village, and indeed with everything excepting, perhaps, the weather.

It is well known that when two ladies fight, one of the great objective points is each other's bonnets, and to tear and destroy each other's clothing appears to be in their minds the very acme of pugalistic science. This was very forcibly illustrated to us a few days since by a conversation we overheard between two young ladies, during which they were discussing what they would do to a third party in case certain contingencies should arise. Said one, "I would fly at her, and I would not leave a whole rag upon her." "And I," said the other, (a tender, gentle, doveeyed little damsel,) "I would leave a lot of holes in her rags." Volumes could not have said more.

Every year developes something new—a new invention, a new specie of bug or insect, or a new disease. Recently we heard of the case of a woman who died of communication. The first case we think on record, although we have frequently seen persons so brim full of something to communicate that we considered it a miracle that they did not burst before they had an opportunity to relieve themselves. In this case, however, the woman died; we have it upon the authority of a young lady of Franklin, who read it in a newspaper, consequently it must be so.

Pathmaster Leavitt has been doing some good work on the streets during the past week, particularly in front of the St. Armand, but we really wish that our Commissioner of Highways would add to the improvement at this point by compelling Mr. Monroe Hall to put his fence at the proper distance from the centre of the street. As it stands now it is an unlawful aggression upon the rights of the public, and a notice to remove it should be served upon him at once.

We are to have a new bridge over the canal where it crosses Main street. Mr. Levi Dudley has the contract for building it, and many think that it can't be done for the sum he is to receive for it, but there is no such thing as can't with Mr. Dudley.

We are happy to learn that Mr. A. A. Smith is gradually recovering from his terrible fall, that he keeps a stiff upper lip, and is still the irresistable Paul. He says that in that thirteen foot home stretch he beat Elke's best time out of sight, only he thinks he slackened his pace a little too suddenly.

We venture to send you a charade:

By the aid of my first, at once you will see.
That itself oft repeated is accepted as three.
My second's a carriage and a phrase like "I declare!"
And when used with my first resembles "I swear."
My third is an implement to farmers well known,
Although it is used not by farmers alone.
My whole is the name of a hero by Scott,
Of whom you should read if as yet you have not.

The answer to the above will be found in our next week's letter, but we offer no prize for it's solution, nor do we dedicate it to anyone; we wish this particularly understood. Let no one imagine for a moment that it is dedicated to himself, and thus become offended. No, we shall do nothing of the sort in future; we have suffered too deeply and intensely from having done so on a former occasion ever to repeat such an act of impertinence.

WALT. U. CAULEM.

ESSEX.

June 30th.—We deem it a duty, however humiliating it may be to us, to make a retraction of what we said in your last issue in regard to Mr. Lansing, and with pleasure we do all in our power to undo any wrong we may have done him. Our communication appeared in his issue of the 29th, in perhaps more than due prominence, and we beg pardon, and now retract all that we said in relation to it, firmly believing that honesty is the road to honor. We have written him a letter of retraction requesting to publish the same.

A little more rain yesterday improved vegetation and brightened the prospects for an abundant harvest.

Mr. Johnson, the photographer, has been doing a large business during the past week, and we wish him like success wherever he goes.

The summer term of our graded school closed on the 27th inst. Mr. Tompson has been eminently successful in instruction and management, and his scholars have nobly done their work. This closes his year. He leaves this week for his home in Western New York to spend the vacation. By his earnest and faithful labors in the cause of education he has won the high esteem of our citizens and of his scholars for whom he has labored, and we hope his stay among us may not be short.

The work of construction on the horse nail works is progressing as fast as possible; considerable time will be spent, however, in removing the old buildings and clearing the ground.

The ladies of the M. E. Church held a strawberry festival recently at the school house hall, of which we neglected to mention, and we note that it was a success both in sociability and finance, the receipt being twenty dollars, (besides expenses) which were devoted to purchasing a new chamber suit for the parsonage. All honor to the ladies. We believe in woman workers but not woman preachers, and we believe woman called of God to use the mighty power for good which she possesses, but we fail to find where our Savior ever called one to the ministry.

MINEVILLE.

July 1.—James McInerney, while working on a platform in the mines last Saturday, fell off and broke his leg near the hip. It is pronounced a very bad break.

The school in West Mineville closed last Friday; also the one in Fletcherville. We understand that Prof. Burke's brother, D. N. Burke, of Middlebury, is to be our next principal. If the report is true, it is a good selection.

Daniel Rooman, who is accused of stealing a cow from the farm of G. G. Roe, is in the county jail to await his trial at the next court.

Frank Fannin, of this place, has been sentenced to one year's confinement in the county jail for breaking (feloniously (?) into the house of Mrs. Bouchard. He endeavored to escape by proving her a prostitute, and for that purpose subpœnaed several of our strictest (to all appearances) churchmen, and men of families. But their testimony did not aid him. Some think he subpœnaed these men for a joke, but the tables are turned, and he can joke with the jailor for a while.

Several deaths have occurred here since Friday. Mrs. Bridget Starr and Mrs. McCawley were interred in the Catholic cemetery. A child of Benj. Thompson's was buried in Mineville cemetery, and Mr. Phillips, who died yesterday, will also be interred in Mineville cemetery.

Our new Congregational (beg pardon, Presbyterian) minister preached yesterday. He is a very fair talker, and has two weeks probation, that is, trial; but already the growlers are beginning, and are finding fault at his youth and because he plays croquet, said game being declared frivilous by our sanctimonious people. No doubt a parson of the Henry Ward Beecher stamp would be more acceptable to some of our people than a good, honest, virtuous minister.

No celebration will take place here the fourth, but the day will be observed at Port Henry, by reading of Declaration of Independence and orations, &c.

Fever and ague is becoming prevalent here; several cases are reported as being at and around the mines.

The Webb Brothers' grand show will exhibit here on the 8th. Their large tent will be pitched in the school house yard.

Croquet is the prevailing game here in the evening. They play both by the light of the moon and the dull glare of a lantern.

Any person who comes to town and wants blacksmithing, call on John Pinders, Union Square, Mineville, and your work will be done with neatness and dispatch, and that at low figures. Call and see.

Some of the mines are running night sihfts and producing plenty of ore, but the company, through their superintendent, say they cannot sell a pound of ore. It is very strange then, why the ore on Port Henry dock does not increase, but diminishes it anything. We believe the story of their not disposing of their ores to be only a pretext to induce the men not to ask for more wages, and several moves toward that object, by the men, have been made.

CROWN POINT CENTRE.

July 1.—Ye merry season of hay-making has commenced. Ye merry click of ye mowing machine assures ye pensive cow of winter food, while "'Tis music in ye horses' ear."

Jas. Ploof takes the lead with his potato patch—in blossom and no bugs nor even Paris green.

Our former jeweler, C. A. McFarland, is in town for a few days.

Fourth July, S. S., and general celebration in Allen's grove, just south of Clune and DePoutee's, Crown Point Centre. Picnic, music, speaking, swings, croquet, &c., &c. See Hira Buckman's artistic streamer over the road between Church and Tom. Sprague's. The "good time" begins at 9 a. m., sharp.

Hima Buck has on sale a fine lot of fire works: rockets, Roman candles, wheels, &c., for the 4th.

Billett exhibits in his sanctum a handsome 6 oz. potato, grown by A. Andrewartha. Will sborough, who has ¾ acre of the same, and they are not Early Rose either.

Base-ball is on the fly once more. The Port Henry club came down and played a game an the Crown Point fair grounds with a mixed nine of Crown Point, Crown Point Centre, and the mines, for the "gait money," as the grotesque advertisement read. The latter were badly beaten and the "gait money" only amounted to $0. Crown Point Centre 3d nine, composed of lads from 8 to 16 years old, Hima Buck, Captain, walked to Ironville and back, some 7 miles, and played the Ironville 2d nine, and some grown up members of Podunk club recently, and were worsted at the disadvantage of men against little boys. The Ironville club, subsequently, came here with a stylish team and large wagon, but the little nine-year-olds beat them badly.

Editor Billett gave us, as a news item, that kite-flying was all the rage at the Corners of late, and his neighbors inform us that Billett himself is the highest flyer among the kite owners.

Dr. Turner, we hear, is kept very busy at the mines.

Dr. Murray has promised us a history for publication, of a very peculiar case and cure of diphtheria, in a child of T. Huestis.

Dr. Pege is home from Chicago. His daughter, Miss Mary, and his ward, Miss Ella King, are home from their school (Abbott Academy, Andover, Mass.) for vacation.

A. G. DePoutee's new barn is an ornament to the dugway.

Wells & DePoutee have a new drive well—excellent water.

Drs. Provencher and Strong having migrated from Crown Point, the former to Massachusetts and the latter to Ti; the M. D.'s remaining are kept quite busy.

M. Heart, our popular merchant tailor, is giving Crown Point perfect fits. His stock of cloths is large and elegant. He now employs an experienced journeyman.

The Indian Bridge hill, near Calvin W. Brooks' place, has been much improved by grading up near the foot.

Prof. Carlisle is enjoying a long vacation, June to September. The past term has been a most successful and satisfactory one.

Prof. Geo. H. Read, at the centre, will close his school and year this week. I am safe in saying no teacher of late, has given such universal add well merited satisfaction, and there is a general desire that he be retained another year.

Fuller is selling long, white, ladies' hose for 6 cents per pair—cheap.

John Hobb and family emigrated to Kansas the 24th inst. Every one wishes them success and happiness in their new home. Alex Trimble will occupy the Hobb place in future. By-the-way, Alex is connected in a business way with Prof. O. Fisher and his balloon, which goes up at Larabee's Point the 4th. Messrs. Calkins and Grover's breath also goes up then and there in patriotic, orational clouds.

We hear onions bid fair to be a slim crop, ½ of Bradford's failed.

We are in receipt of an invitation to a Grand Independence Celebration at C. F. Taylor's hotel, Lake View Point, Schroon Lake. Distinguished speakers, elegant music, the natural attractions, elegant grounds, splendid view, all conspire to make this one of the pleasantest opportunities of celebrating 4th in Northern New York.

NEMO.

WESTPORT.

June 28.—Warm and dry, just the right sort of weather to hoe your garden at 5 o'clock a. m., and then sit down under the apple trees and see the industrious chickens knock over the young pepper plants and cabbages in the twinckling of a bed post.

Cover up the pretty pictures
That do hang upon the wall,
Sling the skeeter netting over them,
Over them both great and small;
Boil an onion in some water,
Wash the frames in every spot,
For the summer flies are with us,
And will soon begin to dot.

SUMMER IS COMIN'.

This morning at 5 o'clock (we are particular about the hour) we consulted Robert B. Thomas' old farmers' almanac for 1879, and found opposite June 21st these words, "summer begins." We always had a high reverence for Uncle Robert B. Thomas, and we think the old almanac is quite correct in saying opposite this June 21st, summer begins, because, if our memory serves us right, we have had no summer yet this blessed year. There were indeed a few warm days sandwiched between many cold ones, just at the tail end of May and the beginning of June. But as somebody has said, "One swallow does not make a summer," and we reckon two warmish days don't accomplish it either. We think it high time that summer begins, if we are to have any corn this year; although J. C. Osborne says he has corn that began to tossell out the 20th of this month. Ours is about knee high to an inch measure. The prospect of having no Johnny cake product this year raises serious forebodings, while we are quite sure we can have no Thanksgiving without pumpkin pies. To-day the sun, according to Uncle Thomas's almanac, will reach his extreme point of northern declination, the summer solstice will begin, and Sol will stand still without the aid of Joshua, to enjoy a little satisfaction that he has reached the half way house on his journey. On the 25th inst., reminded that that day will be one minute shorter, Sol will hitch up his trousers, tie his shoes and proceed on his journey at a pace to astonish the walkists on this planet.

R. F. Hatch has left town, bag and baggage; gone to Vermont.

We had green peas for dinner to-day, Monday, the 30th.

The Boston Traveling Store was in town last Saturday. Four nice large gray horses and a handsome turnout.

E. M. Barnes and son were camping out at Barber's Point last week. Splendid luck fishing.

The Westport Farmer's Club have adjourned their meetings until the 19th of next month.

It takes the edge off our markets in this northern section to read the figures of some of the southern city markets, Baltimore, for example. They have there now blueberries, blackberries and raspberries and apples; green peas 12 cts. a peck, string beans 20 cts., potatoes, (new) $1 per bushel, spring chickens $2.50 per dozen, new apples bring 75 cts. a bushel.

The next two months will find multitudes of people seeking recreation in the quiet country towns among the mountains, while other thousands will hasten towards the sea, the most famous of all resorts, where the healthful and invigorating breezes will give a new lease of life, and the very sight of the ocean will inspire their minds with new and grand emotions.

A nice rain most of the day yesterday (Sunday), and vegetation is looking splendid to-day.

Lost, on Friday, the 27th of this month, at or near the ferry landing on Barber's Point, a memorandum book with some 10 or 12 dollars and some valuable papers, belonging to Oscar Bacon, of Waltham, Vt. The finder will be rewarded by leaving the same at the light house on the point.

"HORACE WATERS, 40 East 14th St, New York, is on his legs again, said a wag to a piano man the other day; how is that said the piano man? the wag answered, why, a few weeks ago Waters used to ride, but now he walks; is he not on his legs again? the piano man stared at the wag for a moment, and said "I see the pint" and skedaddled." The wag was right in more senses than one, for Waters is on his legs again with his "Great Offer." Success to him.

—IS—

CONSUMPTION CURABLE?

Modern medicine is a progressive science and among the most valuable discoveries of modern times is the use of the Soluble Salts of Phosphorus in the treatment of Consumption. The opinion that this hitherto intractable disease is in the majority of cases curable, is now adopted by a very large and respectable portion of the medical profession.

My own experience during the last 20 years justifies me in saying, unhesitatingly, that a majority of cases of Pulmonary
