Mr. Cosgrove chose as his subject, "Sports and Health." It was introduced by John O'Neil, president of the Holy Name Society, who stated the fact that Mr. Cosgrove was well qualified to speak upon the subject. The speaker himself gave a short history of the occasion, stating that Holy Name Day, which is today, was instituted by the bishops of the United States for two reasons. First, to impress upon married couples the dignity of their chosen vocation and secondly, to be an example to others in order to show them the happiness it brought to him. This example is needed, Mr. Cosgrove said, because of the extremely low marriage rate and the high divorce rate of the country alone, but this is just a part of it. Finally, Mr. Cosgrove urged all married couples to attend services in the Holy Name Society in order to promote the renewal of the marriage vows.
